

Members of the Peel Amateur Radio Club held their annual 24-hour Field Day Communications Marathon last weekend at Heart Lake Conservation Area. The aim of the weekend was to make as many radio contacts as possible in a simulated emergency test. Above, Sean Large and Robert Johnson scan for hits using the 15 metre band where they are able to reach as far as British Columbia and Florida.

Photos by George Beshiri